Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(c), Plaintiffs and Defendants (collectively, the “Parties”)¹ in the above-captioned action (the “Action”), respectfully request that the Court issue a Supplemental Third-Party Stipulated Protective Order Restricting Disclosure of Indivior Confidential Information to protect certain confidential, proprietary, or private information of third party subpoena-recipient, Indivior Inc., that may be produced or re-produced in the course of discovery in this Action, and to guard against the waiver of attorney-client privilege, work-product protection pursuant to Federal Rule of Evidence 502(d), and other applicable privileges. The protections afforded in this Supplemental Third Party Stipulated Protective Order are in addition to the Stipulated Protective Order entered June 29, 2022 in this proceeding and in no way diminish the protections of that June 29, 2022 Protective Order. The Parties, by and through their respective undersigned counsel, hereby stipulate to the following additional terms governing the production or designation of materials from Non-Party Indivior Inc., subject to the Court's approval.

I. DEFINITIONS

1. "Highly Confidential Discovery Material" means any Discovery Material designated as "Highly Confidential" pursuant to the terms of this Order.

2. "Designating Party" means a Party or Non-Party Indivior Inc. who designates any Discovery Material as Confidential or Highly Confidential in connection with this Action.

3. "Discovery Material" means any information provided by a Party or Non-Party Indivior Inc. in the course of discovery in this Action, including, but not limited to, information contained in documents, testimony taken at depositions and transcripts thereof, deposition exhibits, interrogatory responses, responses to requests for admission, and any other information or material produced, given or exchanged in this Action, regardless of the medium or manner generated, stored or maintained.

4. "Non-Party" means a person or entity, including Indivior Inc., that is not a Party to this Action.

5. "Objecting Party" means a Party or Non-Party that challenges the designation of Discovery Material as "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential," or challenges a failure to so designate.

6. "Party" means any Party to this Action.

7. "Producing Party" means a Party or Non-Party that produces any Discovery Material in this Action.

8. "Protected Information" means information subject to a claim of confidentiality, attorney-client privilege, attorney work-product protection, or other applicable privilege, that a Producing Party inadvertently discloses to a Receiving Party in this Action.

9. “Receiving Party” means a Party or Non-Party, including Indivior, Inc. that receives any Discovery Material from a Producing Party in this Action.

II. DESIGNATING DISCOVERY MATERIAL

10. Any Producing or Receiving Party may designate as Highly Confidential any Discovery Material, or any portion thereof, that the Producing Party or Receiving Party reasonably and in good faith believes consists of or contains non-public information related to:

(a) proprietary business information, including trade secrets and other highly sensitive and non-public research and analysis, customer information, current (not more than five (5) years old) sales techniques and financial, marketing, and strategic business planning information, and information older than five years that is indicative of current sales techniques and financial, marketing, and strategic business planning practices;

(b) current or past communications with and submissions to the U.S. Food & Drug Administration regarding research, development, studies, testing, analyses, or reports regarding product composition, safety, or risks;

(c) any current or future pricing information, information relating to research, development, testing of, and plans for, a Producing Party’s existing and proposed future products, information relating to the processes, apparatus, manufacture, or analytical techniques used by a Producing Party in its present or proposed commercial production of such products;

(d) information relating to pending or abandoned patent applications not otherwise disclosed to the public;

(e) communications regarding any of the Highly Confidential Material; and

(f) any other information that a Producing Party believes in good faith could be used by a competitor to harm its business or to seek advantage beyond the purposes of this litigation. Examples may include dividends paid by a private corporation to its shareholders, revenues and profits of a private corporation, total dollar purchases by a private customer of a private corporation, pricing to private customers of private corporation and terms of agreement with a third party whose disclosure would breach nondisclosure provisions imposed by that third party.

11. A Designating or Producing Party may designate Discovery Material as “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential,” notwithstanding the fact that the designated materials may be in the possession of a different Party or third party.

12. Nothing in this Order prejudices in any way any objection to, or position concerning, production of the foregoing.

13. Nothing in this Order shall be construed to provide less protection to Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material designated by the Parties or Non-Party than the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or the Local Civil Rules of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York (“Local Civil Rules”).

14. The designation of any Discovery Material as Confidential or Highly Confidential shall be made in the manner set forth in the Stipulated Protective Order of June 29, 2022.

(a) The Parties may modify this procedure for any particular deposition through agreement in advance with each other and with designating Non-Party Indivior Inc. on the record at such deposition or in writing, without further order of the Court; and

(b) In such cases where the marking of each piece of Discovery Material as “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” is impractical or impossible, the Designating Party shall designate in writing the Discovery Materials that it regards as containing Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material at the time the Designating Party produces those Discovery Materials.

III. ACCESS TO AND USE OF CONFIDENTIAL AND HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL DISCOVERY MATERIAL

15. Any person subject to this Order who receives from any Producing Party Discovery Material that is designated as “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” shall not disclose such Discovery Material, except as expressly permitted herein. Any violation of the terms of this Order shall be punishable by relief the Court deems appropriate.

16. Unless otherwise directed by the Court, Confidential Discovery Material shall not be disclosed, summarized, described, characterized, or otherwise communicated or made available, in whole or in part, to any person other than the individuals described in the subparagraphs below. Any disclosure of Confidential Discovery Material permitted by this paragraph may be made only to the following persons and only to the extent reasonably necessary to prosecute and defend this Action:

(a) A Party’s authorized representatives responsible for overseeing its legal affairs and any current employee, officer, or director of a Party assisting in the defense or prosecution of, or making a determination with respect to, the Action, or, in the case of an individual Party, the Party himself or herself;

(b) Counsel retained specifically for this Action, and regular or temporary employees of such counsel, including any paralegal, clerical, or other assistant who are engaged in assisting counsel in the prosecution or defense of this Action, provided that any disclosure is for use in accordance with this Order;

(c) Any person who is identified as an author or recipient (including without limitation “bcc” recipients) of such Confidential Discovery Material (whether by the Confidential Discovery Material itself or any other Discovery Material, including by testimony), provided that such person is notified that such Confidential Discovery Material is subject to this Order and is not provided with copies of such Confidential Discovery Material for his or her retention;

(d) Outside vendors or service providers (such as copy-service providers, document-management consultants, stenographers and videographers) retained in connection with the prosecution or defense of this Action;

(e) Any mediator, arbitrator, or other person engaged by the Parties or appointed by the Court for the purpose of alternative dispute resolution provided that such person has signed an undertaking in the form of Exhibit A attached hereto;

(f) Any witness or deponent (and counsel for the witness or deponent) to the extent reasonably necessary in connection with their testimony in this Action or the preparation thereof. All persons identified solely in this subparagraph shall be advised of the contents of this Protective Order and shall not be permitted to retain any Confidential Discovery Material;

(g) Any prospective witness to the extent reasonably necessary in connection with their testimony in this Action or the preparation thereof, provided that such person and his or her counsel has signed an undertaking in the form of Exhibit A attached hereto. All persons identified solely in this subparagraph shall not be permitted to retain any Confidential Discovery Material;

(h) Any person (including their professional staff) retained by a Party to serve as an expert witness or consultant or otherwise provide specialized advice to counsel in connection with this Action, to the extent reasonably necessary for such person to prepare a written opinion, prepare to testify, or assist counsel in the prosecution or defense of this Action, provided that any report created by such expert or consultant relying on or incorporating Confidential Discovery Material, in whole or in part, shall be designated as "Confidential" by the Party responsible for its creation, and provided further, that such expert or consultant has signed an undertaking in the form attached as Exhibit A hereto;

(i) The Court or any appellate court in this Action and its support personnel, court reporters, and jurors;

(j) Outside or in-house counsel for insurance companies or other indemnitors of any Party from which a Party claims coverage or that are providing coverage for claims; and

(k) Any other person upon order of the Court or upon stipulation of the Producing Party.

17. Unless otherwise directed by the Court, Highly Confidential Discovery Material shall not be disclosed, summarized, described, characterized, or otherwise communicated or made available, in whole or in part, to any person other than the individuals described herein. Any disclosure of Highly Confidential Discovery Material permitted by this paragraph may be made only to the following persons and only to the extent reasonably necessary to prosecute and defend this Action.

18. (a) Access to any Discovery Material designated as Highly Confidential shall be limited to the manner of access and controls and to the individuals described in subparagraphs (16)(b)-(16)(k) above.

(b) With respect to individuals who (1) meet the category of subparagraphs (16)(f) or (16)(g) above as witnesses or deponents or prospective witnesses or deponents and (2) who also are (i) an individual Party to this action, (ii) a current or former employee of Defendant Reckitt Benckiser Group or its subsidiaries, affiliates, or parent companies, or (iii) a current or former employee of Non-Party Indivior Inc. or its subsidiaries, affiliates, or parent companies, access to Highly Confidential Discovery Material shall be limited to such Highly Confidential Discovery Material that they authored or received during the course of their employment for Reckitt Benckiser Group, Indivior Inc., or their subsidiaries, affiliates, or parent companies, as relevant, to the extent reasonably necessary for the deposition or testimony or preparation thereof. They shall be advised of the contents of this Supplemental and the June 29, 2022 Stipulated Protective Order, and shall not be permitted to retain any Highly Confidential Discovery Material.

19. When Protected Material is to be referred to, discussed, or disclosed in the course of a deposition in this Action, the Party or Non-Party designating Confidential or Highly Confidential Material may require the exclusion from the proceedings of any person who is not authorized to have access to the Confidential or Highly Confidential Material under the terms of this Protective Order. A person otherwise authorized to be present at such a deposition may only be excluded from the deposition for the period of time in which such Confidential or Highly Confidential Material is being referred to, discussed, or disclosed.

20. Before disclosing any Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material to any person referred to in subparagraphs 16(e), (g), (h), and (j) or paragraph 18(b) above, counsel for the Party or Non-Party making the disclosure shall provide such person with a copy of this Order, and such person shall sign an undertaking in the form attached as Exhibit A hereto stating that such person has read this Order and agrees to be bound by its terms. Counsel shall retain each signed Exhibit A.

21. Every person or entity given access to Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material or information contained therein:

(a) shall not make copies, duplicates, extracts, summaries or descriptions of such material, or any portion thereof, except for use in connection with the Action, and each such copy is to be treated in accordance with the provisions of this Order; and

(b) shall be advised by the Party providing such access that the information is being disclosed pursuant and subject to the terms of this Order and may not be disclosed other than pursuant to such terms.

22. Any extract, summary, compilation, description, notes, memoranda, analysis, or copy containing Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material and any electronic image or database containing Confidential or Highly Confidential information shall be subject to the terms of this Order to the same extent as the material or information from which it is derived.

23. All Discovery Material (including, but not limited to, Confidential and Highly Confidential Discovery Material) shall be used solely for the prosecution or defense of this Action, and shall not be used for any other purpose whatsoever. Confidential and Highly Confidential information shall not be disclosed except in accordance with the terms of this Order.

24. Parties, the attorneys of record for the Parties, and all other persons receiving information governed by this Order shall maintain Discovery Material in a secure manner so as to avoid disclosure of its content and take reasonable steps to ensure that Discovery Material is: (i) used only for the purposes specified herein; and (ii) disclosed only to authorized persons, as described herein. Each person who has access to Discovery Material that has been designated as Confidential or Highly Confidential shall take all reasonable precautions to prevent the unauthorized or inadvertent disclosure or misuse of such material, including by employing reasonable measures, consistent with this Order, to control access to, duplication of and distribution of such material. Any such person shall exercise, at the very least, the same standard of due and proper care with respect to the storage, custody, use or dissemination of such Protected Material as is exercised by the recipient with respect to its own proprietary information. Any such standard shall, at the very least, be reasonably calculated to maintain the confidentiality of the Protected Material.

25. Nothing contained in this Order, however, shall affect or restrict the rights of any Designating Party with respect to its own documents, data or information produced in this Action so long as they comply with the original terms of their receipt of Individior documents, whether by Non-Disclosure Agreement or otherwise. Each Party must promptly advise the Producing Party through counsel of any losses, or compromises, of the confidentiality of the Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material governed by this Order. If a Receiving Party learns that, by inadvertence or otherwise, it has disclosed Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material to any person or in any circumstance not authorized under this Order, the Receiving Party must immediately: (i) notify in writing the Producing Party of the unauthorized disclosures; (ii) use best efforts to retrieve all copies of the Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material; (iii) inform the person(s) to whom unauthorized disclosure was made of all of the terms of this Order; and (iv) request that such person(s) either return or destroy the Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material inadvertently disclosed to them or, if appropriate under the terms of this Order, execute the undertaking attached as Exhibit A hereto.

26. This Order does not apply to any information or material that: (i) was, is or becomes public knowledge other than through a breach of this Order; (ii) is acquired or learned by the Receiving Party independent of discovery in this Action; or (iii) is required by law to be made available to third Parties.

27. In the event additional Parties join or are joined in this action, the newly joined Party shall not have access to Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material until its counsel has executed and, at the request of any Party, filed with the Court, its agreement to be fully bound by this Order.

IV. FILING CONFIDENTIAL OR HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL DISCOVERY MATERIAL

28. Notwithstanding any other provision, no document may be filed with the Clerk of court under seal without a further Order of this Court addressing the specific documents or portions of documents to be sealed. Any application to seal shall be accompanied by an affidavit or affidavits and a memorandum of law, demonstrating that the standards for sealing have been met and specifically addressing the applicability of Lugosch v. Pyramid Co. of Onondaga, 435 F.3d 110, 119-120 (2d Cir. 2006) and any other controlling authority. Unless otherwise ordered, a party seeking to file an opposing party's or a Non-Party's confidential or highly confidential information shall so advise the Designating Party fourteen (14) days in advance specifying the precise portion of the information the party seeks to use, the general purpose thereof and any redactions to which the party does not object. Within seven (7) days thereafter, the party or Non-Party whose confidential information is sought to be used may make an application to seal in accordance with [this Order], indicating the portion or portions of the information it seeks to have sealed. Nothing herein is intended to alter or modify the applicability of Rule 5.2, Fed. R. Civ. P., to this case. The redactions expressly authorized by Rule 5.2 may be made without further application to the Court.

29. Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material may only be filed under seal pursuant to a court order authorizing the sealing of the specific Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material at issue. If a request to file Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material under seal is denied by the Court, then the Receiving Party may file the information in the public record unless otherwise instructed by the Court.

30. The date upon which the Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material is appended to a letter motion to file under seal shall act as the date the Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material is filed with the Court, regardless of the date upon which the Court issues an order on the motion to file under seal.

31. Nothing herein shall preclude a Party from filing Discovery Materials that the Party itself has designated as Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material in unredacted form and without requesting sealing.

32. Sealed records that have been filed may be removed by the Designating Party (including a Non-Party Designating Party): (i) within ninety (90) days after a final decision disposing of the Action is rendered if no appeal is taken; or (ii) if an appeal is taken, within thirty (30) days after final disposition of the appeal.

V. USE OF CONFIDENTIAL OR HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL DISCOVERY MATERIAL IN COURT

33. Unless applicable rules of the Court provide for different notice, if any Receiving Party plans to utilize any Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material at a court hearing or pretrial conference, that Receiving Party shall use reasonable efforts to inform the Producing and/or Designating Party, including Non-Party Indivior, of its intent to use such information in advance of the court appearance, without being obligated to identify the particular Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material to be used. Whether or not any such advance notice is given, the Receiving Party will provide the Producing Party and/or Designating Party with an opportunity to approach the Court in confidence, whether in chambers or sidebar or such other method as the Court shall direct, regarding the use of the Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material before reference is made to any such Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material. This provision is not intended to prohibit counsel from selecting and using Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material for any court hearing or conference.

VI. CHALLENGING CONFIDENTIALITY DESIGNATIONS

34. A Party or Non-Party may object to the designation of Discovery Material as “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” at any time (the “Objecting Party”). Failure to do so at the time of the designation does not operate as a waiver of any Receiving Party’s right to challenge the “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” designation of any Discovery Material by any Designating Party.

35. In the event that an Objecting Party wishes to challenge the “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” designation of any Discovery Material, the Objecting Party shall give written notice to the Designating Party and all Parties to the Action stating with particularity the grounds of the objection or request. The Objecting Party and the Designating Party shall attempt in good faith to resolve all objections by agreement. If any objections cannot be resolved by agreement within ten (10) days from when they were first made, the Objecting Party may submit the issue to the Court at any time. Any Discovery Material that is the subject of such a dispute shall be treated as Highly Confidential Discovery Material until the Court’s decision on the issue or until the Objecting Party withdraws such objection in writing.

VII. CLAWBACK OF PROTECTED MATERIAL

36. If a Producing Party inadvertently discloses to a Receiving Party information that is subject to attorney-client privilege, attorney work product protection, or any other applicable privilege or protection (“Protected Information”), such disclosure shall not constitute or be deemed a waiver of privilege or work product protection with respect to the Protected Information, the subject matter of the Protected Information, or the right to object to the production or disclosure of the Protected Information in this action or in any other proceeding. Federal Rule of Evidence 502 and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(5)(B) shall define whether a disclosure operates as a waiver in this case.

37. If information produced in discovery is subject to a claim of attorney-client privilege, any other applicable privilege, and/or entitled to work-product protection, the Producing Party shall follow the procedures set forth in the Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(b)(5)(B) and Local Civil Rule 26.2. When a Producing Party gives notice to Receiving Parties that certain inadvertently produced material is subject to a claim of attorney-client privilege, attorney work product, or other applicable privilege, or a Receiving Party believes it may have received inadvertently produced material that is subject to such a claim, the obligations of the Receiving Parties are controlled by Federal Rules of Evidence 502 and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 26(b)(5)(B).

38. The return, sequester, or destruction of any Protected Information pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 26(b)(5)(B) shall not in any way preclude the Receiving Party from moving the Court for an Order compelling production of the Protected Information.

VIII. NON-PARTIES

39. Any Non-Party from whom Discovery Material is or has been sought in this Action may obtain the protections of this Order by designating that its provision of Discovery Material is subject to the Order.

40. To the extent that any Non-Party produces Discovery Material in this Action that contains Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material of a Party to this Action, any Party may designate such Discovery Material as “Confidential,” or “Highly Confidential” for purposes of this Order by delivering written notice of such designation to the Parties within sixty (60) days of receipt by counsel for all Parties of the Non-Party’s production of such Discovery Material. Until the expiration of the 60-day period, the Parties shall treat any Discovery Material produced by a Non-Party as Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material. Thereafter, only those portions of such Discovery Material designated as “Confidential” or “Highly Confidential” shall be deemed Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material.

IX. LEGAL PROCESS

41. If a Receiving Party is subpoenaed in another proceeding or served with a document demand or other similar legal process in another proceeding, and such subpoena or document demand seeks Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material that was produced in this Action by a Designating Party other than the Receiving Party, the Receiving Party shall, unless otherwise required or prohibited by law, give written notice as promptly as reasonably practicable before the return date for such subpoena or document demand, to counsel for the Designating Party, and include with the notice a copy of the subpoena or request. The Designating Party shall bear all responsibility for its objection to the production of such Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material, and the Receiving Party shall not voluntarily make any production of the Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material until resolution of any objections interposed by the Designating Party, unless compelled or otherwise required by law. The Receiving Party shall make a good-faith effort to provide the Designating Party a reasonable period of time in which to seek to quash the subpoena or document demand, or to move for any protection for the Discovery Material, before the Receiving Party takes any action to comply with the subpoena or document demand and shall request, by designation pursuant to a protective order or otherwise, the highest level of confidentiality protection available consistent with the designation of that Discovery Material pursuant to this Order. Nothing in this Order shall be construed as authorizing a Party to disobey any law or court order requiring production of materials designated as Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material in this Action.

X. FINAL DISPOSITION

42. Within sixty (60) days after receiving notice of entry of an order, judgment or decree finally ending the Action, including, without limitation, any appeals therefrom, or the running of time to take such an appeal, if later, all persons having received Confidential or Highly Confidential

Discovery Material shall make commercially reasonable efforts to identify and destroy all such Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material, including all copies thereof and information derived therefrom, or return such materials to counsel for the Producing Party. In either event, on or before the sixty-day deadline, the Receiving Party shall certify its return or destruction of all Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material by submitting a written certification to the Producing Party that affirms, to the best of the Receiving Party's knowledge after undertaking commercially reasonable efforts, that it has not retained any copies, abstracts, compilations, summaries, or other forms of reproducing or capturing any of the Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material.

43. Notwithstanding the foregoing provision, counsel are entitled to retain archival copies of all pleadings, motion papers, transcripts, legal memoranda, e-mail and other correspondence or attorney work-product, even if such materials contain Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material under this Order. Any such archival copies that contain or constitute Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material remain subject to this Order.

44. This Court shall retain jurisdiction over all persons subject to this Order to the extent necessary to enforce any obligations arising hereunder or to impose sanctions for any contempt thereof.

XI. MISCELLANEOUS

45. Entering into or agreeing to this Order, producing or receiving Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material or otherwise complying with the terms of this Order, shall not:

(a) operate as an admission by the Receiving Party that any particular Discovery Material designated as "Confidential" or "Highly Confidential" by the Producing Party is appropriately designated as such;

(b) prevent any Party or Non-Party from seeking further, greater or lesser protection with respect to the use of any Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material, in connection with this Action or any other proceeding;

(c) prejudice in any way the rights of any Party to object to the production of documents or information it considers not subject to discovery or to object to the authenticity or admissibility into evidence of any document, testimony or other evidence subject to this Order;

(d) waive any applicable privilege, protection or immunity;

(e) waive a Party's right to move the Court for an order allowing disclosure of Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material for good cause;

(f) prejudice in any way the rights of a Party to petition the Court for a further protective order relating to any purported Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material;

(g) prevent the Parties from agreeing to alter or waive the provisions or protections provided for herein with respect to any particular Discovery Material;

(h) bar the use or disclosure at trial of any information designated as Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material; or

(i) affect, or be construed to affect, in any way the admissibility of any document, interrogatory response or other evidence at hearings or trial of the Action.

46. It is the present intention of the Parties that the provisions of this Order shall govern discovery in the Action. Nonetheless, the Parties hereto may modify the terms of the Order by agreement of all Parties in writing, and approval by the Court.

47. The terms of this Order shall survive any settlement, discontinuance, dismissal, judgment or other disposition of the Action.

48. Any violation of the terms of this Order shall be punishable by relief deemed appropriate by the Court.

49. The Parties agree to meet and confer concerning any dispute between the Parties regarding this Order before seeking assistance from the Court. If the Parties are unable to resolve the dispute, any Party may make an appropriate application to the Court for relief.

50. This Order may be executed in any number of actual, telecopied or emailed counterparts, and by each of the different parties thereto on several counterparts, each of which when executed and delivered shall be an original. The executed signature page(s) from each actual, telecopied or emailed counterpart may be joined together and attached to one such original and shall constitute one and the same instrument.

This Order shall become effective as a stipulation among the Parties immediately upon its execution, even if not yet entered by the Court.

EXHIBIT A

I, _____, acknowledge that I have read and understand the terms of the Protective Order entered in this Action governing the protection of Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material. I agree that I will not disclose Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material to anyone other than for purposes of this Action and as expressly permitted under the terms of the Protective Order. I further agree that, upon the request of the Producing Party, within 30 days of the conclusion of the Action, I will return all Confidential or Highly Confidential Discovery Material in my custody, possession, or control to the Producing Party or attorney from whom I received it or certify in writing that said information has been destroyed. By acknowledging these obligations, I understand that I am submitting myself to the jurisdiction of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York for the purpose of any issue or dispute arising under the Protective Order and that my willful violation of any term thereunder could subject me to punishment for contempt of Court.
